"HEW TO THE LINE, LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY."

VOLUME 1.

MAYSVILLE, THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 13, 1882.

NUMBER 122.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

Published every afternoon and delivered in this city, the suburbs and Aberdeen by our carriers, at 6 CENTS a week.

It is welcomed in the households of men of both political parties, for the reason that it is more of a newspaper than a political journal.

Its wide circulation therefore makes it a valuable vehicle for business announcements, which we respectfully invite to our columns.

Fun in the Senate.

The silence of the Senate Chamber was suddenly broken by flowery Florida, who cried out:

"I call the Senate to order."
"That's a Plumb good one," remarked bleeding Kansas.

"I'll enter it in my Kellogg," sang out Louisiana, the female privateer.

"That's a Perry good," responded sturdy Michigan.

"I'll give him a Garland," sang out the Arkansas traveler.

"Oh, pull down your Vest," cried merry Missouri.

"Hale fellow well met, shake," shouted Maine.

"La-mar, aren't these folks cranky," simpered Mississippi.

"Don't Teller—don't Teller!" shouted Colorado, the mountain climber.

"I ad Vance the proposition that a Ransom is necessary," said old tar heel North Carolina.

"A Butler is a good thing to have in the house," suggested aristocratic South Carolina.

"Oh, Pugh!" sneered Alabama.

"I prefer a Miller," volunteered golden-haired California.

"I've got a Hill that's hard to climb," boasted gasconading Georgia.

"I can Walker log!" yelled Arkansas the toothpick-wielder.

"I can Groome him, if am a Gorman!" cried My Maryland.

"If I can't Logan, or I'm a sucker," shouted Stalwart Illinois.

"Windom up! Windom up!" vociferated Vermont, the Green Mountain boy.

"I Dawes-n't interfere," explained cautious Massachusetts.

"Oh, Frye, Frye," exclaimed Maine in deprecatory tones, that sent them into a Brown study.

"I'll sharpen your wits on Mahone," said readjusted Virginia.

Just then Texas, fearing a Hoar frost, quietly put some Coke on the fire to produce a Maxey-mum of heat, thinking no one was looking, but Wisconsin cried out exultingly:

"I Sawyer, I Sawyer."

"That's not Fair," expostulated silver-top Nevada.

"Hawley," chimed in steady-going Connecticut.

"If it is I don't Se-well," joined in sandy-headed New Jersey.

"Now you've Don it," put in Pennsylvania, protectingly.

"Let's all Wade in," shouted irascible South Carolina.

The confusion began to Grover-y great when a great Blair from the White Hill's recalled them to a proper sense of their Senatorial dignity just as Kentucky was about to Beck-on to Rhode Island for a game of Anthony over, and silence once more brooded over the scene.—Washington Republic.

Some old wooden wheels were discovered some years ago in the mines of Portugal, supposed to have been once used by the Romans for hydraulic purposes. The wheels were eight in number, the spokes and felloes of pine, and the axle and its support of oak. They are supposed to exceed 1,450 years of age, yet the wood was in a perfect state of preservation, having been thoroughly immersed in water charged with salts of copper and iron. A similar instance occurred in San Domingo, an old wooden wheel being discovered in a disused copper mine. How long it had been there is uncertain, but it was completely preserved, owing to its having absorbed considerable quantities of iron and copper. The preserving quality of these minerals for the impregnation of wood is well illustrated in the mines of Hallen, Austria, the timber used being the same which was originally introduced anterior to the Christian era, and which is ever now in a perfect condition.

A Relic.

Running our hands into the pockets of an old spike tail coat the other day, preparatory to turning over the venerable garment to a poor man who needed a spike-tail coat to herd sheep in, we found a relic of bygone days that took us back over the rugged path on which we had journeyed for the past ten years; back through sun-painted valleys and through the sloughs of despond till we stood again where we did before the past decade with its burden of sorrows and its seldom joys had made its impress on our brow.

It was only a soiled and worn ball programme.

Looking upon it, the mist of gathering years lifted from the still features of the past like the pall that hides the calm lineaments of the dead, and out from the silent tomb of buried memories came back that regal night we spent in the heart of the forest, with the wealth and beauty of nature's children gathered about the camp fire, while the seductive strains of the Strauss waltz, played on a camp kettle and a Ute base drum, filled the air.

The programme reads on the outside as follows:

GRAND DRESS BALL.

SELECT WAR DANCE

and

RAW DOG SUPPER.

July 15, 1872.

War Whoop Job Print.

Opening the programme, we find in addition to several hand painted grease spots and the odor of smoked bacon, the following list of dances with our partners:

Grand March around the Firewater Barrel....
Maiden with the Tin Ear.
Scalp Waltz.....Cleopatra Colorow
Flying Trapeze Quadrille.....Veni Vidi Vici Colorow.
Hoopa Schottische.....Tay-To-Ba-Smith (1/2 breed belle).
Lancers (free for all)....Honi-Soit-Qui-Mal-y-Pense-Shavano.
Tomahawk Waltz.....Daughter-of-the-Cooling-Blizzard.

SUPPER.

(Guests are requested not to throw discarded bones at the musicians or change their clothing in the ball room. They might take cold.)
Maniac Polka.....Daughter-of-Anonymous-pale face.

First Love.

A long story in the Wheeling Leader is headed, "Her First Love." We have no time to read long stories, but if it was really and truly her first love it is safe to say he got away. It takes a practiced hand to know just when to reel in, pay out more line, and "play" him till he can be landed and put in the basket. It can't be done by a girl with her first love, because of the excitement when she first feels there is one nibbling, causing her to shut both eyes, pull for dear life and throw him fifteen feet into the air, when the hook drops out of his mouth, he falls "slap" into the water and sends under some old root. The desert of life is strewn all over with the bleaching bones of first loves, who have had their jaw torn off so they could not masticate their food.—Peck's Sun.

The School Bill.

The resolution of Mr. Breathitt to appoint a joint committee to prepare a school bill providing for the equitable distribution of the school fund for the education of all the children of the Commonwealth irrespective of race or color, was postponed by the House of Representatives after a bitter fight. The refusal to adopt the resolution, with accustomed unfairness, is heralded by the Republican papers of the state as an evidence of "Bourbon illiberality" and prejudice against the colored race, when in truth a majority of the representatives in the Legislature favor an equitable distribution of the school moneys and will support any properly prepared measure providing for such distribution.

The Breathitt resolution was antagonized on account of several objectionable features. It levied a tax of a dollar on every poll in the Commonwealth, a kind of taxation that has never been popular in this state. In addition to this it levies a tax of ten cents on every $100 worth of taxable property, this, however, to be submitted to the people at the August election, when it would be almost certain of defeat. The bill is very long and has many features but these objections are enough to mention. A substitute for the measure has been offered and will be considered with it when it comes up again on the 19th, which provides simply for consolidating the white and colored school funds and levying an additional tax of 2 cents on the $100, which would make the per capita to white and colored children $1.41 instead of $1.40 as now to white children and 50 cents to colored. Neither of these bills contemplate mixed schools or anything of the kind. Some measure of this nature providing equal facilities for the education of white and colored children, it is thought will pass at this session of the General Assembly, and as such legislation would be just and proper, ought to pass.

GURREAU's book, "The Truth," has been published.

The nomination of S. P. Rounds, of Chicago, to be Public Printer has been confirmed.

The cost of rebuilding the levees broken in Louisiana by the flood, it is figured out will cost $1,400,000.

Mrs. Scoville wants to administer on Guitan's estate. His body and his book she thinks will be worth something to her family.

Gov. CRITTENDEN, of Missouri, who is now at Washington, denies that he left the state because of a feeling of personal insecurity. He came to adjust land claims.

The select committee to investigate charges of attempted bribery against members of the Ohio Legislature have returned a report recommending that representatives Bloch and Wright be censured.

A LETTER received at Vanceburg announces that the Hon. Alf. Underwood, who has been reported dead, is still alive and is living at Mt. Ayre, Kansas. The letter states that Alf. has reformed and is leading a better life.

NEWS BREVITIES.

One thousand Lamont, (Ill.) quarrymen are on a strike.

It is said that Materna is to receive $10,000 for her services at the three American festivals.

Mrs. Ida Greely Smith, eldest daughter of the late Horace Greely, died in New York City, of diphtheria.

There are 285 persons or firms in Washington engaged in prosecuting claims before the Pension bureau.

The French government will have eight expeditions taking observations of the transit of Venus December 6.

The Allen Redistricting Bill has been killed in the Ohio House, but the Senate passed its own bill on the same subject.

The association of malsters and brewers of the United States will hold their annual convention at Washington, May 9 to 13 inclusive.

The indications are that most of the victims of the Golden City disaster jumped overboard and were drowned, without waiting to be burned to death.

The report that Secretary Lincoln, the only remaining cabinet officer appointed by President Garfield, intends resigning to accept a foreign position, lacks good authority.

In the Ohio Senate, the Smith Sunday Law was amended, on motion of Mr. Pond, allowing regular drug stores to sell liquor on physicians' prescriptions, with other new features.

Judge Foraker has resigned his seat on the Cincinnati, Superior Court bench, on account of ill health. A petition has been forwarded to Gov. Foster asking that he decline to accept the resignation.

Near Perryville, Perry county, Ark., J. M. Butler, a school teacher from Indiana, was shot and killed while on a visit to Mrs. Brazil, a widow, whom he intended marrying. The assassin escaped.

A big hailstone story from Dallas, Texas says "they ranged from the size of walnuts to base balls, and many still larger, were picked up, measuring over ten inches in circumference." As might be expected, great damage was done.

Nathaniel Northrup, who died at Louisville, aged 68, had been a passenger agent for over forty years, first serving in that capacity for the old stage lines in Ohio. He had been connected with the Baltimore and Ohio road for fourteen years, with his headquarters at Cincinnati.

The Kentucky House has passed the Senate bill for a $50,000 court house at Newport. The bill authorizing an appropriation of $150,000 by the citizens of Newport and Covington towards the construction of a new bridge across the Licking river, has been repealed in both branches of the legislature.

The U. S. House passed the bill appropriating for the hungry Indians, chiefly Comanches, who are about to break out for lack of sustenance. The rest of the day was spent in discussing the tariff. The Senate spent the day on the bill giving right of way to the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad through Indian Territory.

Reports of the effect of the recent cold snap on the fruit in Ohio vary somewhat, but it is generally believed that the crop has been badly injured, if not wholly ruined. All over the state the fruit has been in blossom. Some of these blossoms were examined yesterday under the microscope and the germ found to be destroyed. Farmers report their wheat injured, but to what extent has not been ascertained.

NICHOLAS county tobacco sold this week for 13 cents.

The particulars of the death of Mrs. Amanda Darnall, of Fleming county, are thus given by the Democrat:

Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Darnall has been living with a maiden sister on a farm left them by their father, the late Wm. Cord. After they had taken possession of the farm, they built a new dwelling house, and were getting along very well. Mrs. Darnall, however, had been in failing health for some time, and her mind was considerably affected. This was noticed by her relatives, but they never thought for a minute that anything serious would result from it.

On the day mentioned, Mrs. Darnall went to the well to draw a bucket of water. The well is situated a short distance from the house and is enclosed in a small building, entrance being made into the well from door in the floor. Going inside this building, she closed the door behind her, placed the bucket against it, and then, raising the door, deliberately lowered herself into the well and was drowned.

The deceased was under fifty years of age, and was much esteemed by all who knew her.

FILES! FILES! FILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions instruments and electrics do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

Skin Diseases Cured

By DR. FRAZIER'S MAGIC OINTMENT. Cures as if by magic, pimples, black head or grubs, blotches and eruptions on the face, leaving the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Also cures itch, barber's itch, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, scald head, chapped hands, sore nipples, sore lips, old obstinate ulcers and sores, &c.

SKIN DISEASE.
F. Drake, Esq., Cleveland, O., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed he used Dr. Frazier's Magic Ointment and was cured by a few applications.

The first and positive cure for skin diseases ever discovered.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a diamond-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

BATCHELDER'S
Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.
Indispensible to Merchants Shippers And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candied, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rebounding.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breaking, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 10 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.
Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete 65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 15 doz. Case with Fillers complete, 55 Cents.
Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, 1 string 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.

The 15 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,

J. H. BATCHELDER,
(In ordering mention this paper.)

JACKSON FROST, that wicked cuss,

Who nipping power wields,

Came a visit last night,

And left us blighted fields,

Dang his wicked, dirty hide,

The plaguey, blasted thing,

To go and squat himself right in

The lap of gentle spring.

And spring herself is some to blame;

Her negligence we wall;

Because she didn't stick a pin

Into the rascal's tail.

The Big Four Minstrel party will appear shortly in this city.

JOHN WHEELER has reduced the prices of fish and canned goods. Call and see him.

THERE was a heavy frost last night. The fruit and early vegetables were nipped badly.

PREACHING to-night (Thursday) at the Presbyterian church by Rev. E. E. Ervin. After preaching the Ebenezer Presbytery will be constituted for business. Several ministers are expected and quite a number of lay members. The public are cordially invited to attend. Services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

THE coroner's jury that investigated the death of James Lewis, of Brown county, Ohio, who was found dead in his bed last week with a bullet in his brain, decided that he came to his death by his own hand. There was no evidence before the jury to justify a suspicion that Mrs. Lewis had anything to do with the deed.

To the Public.

The circulation of the DAILY BULLETIN, although it has just entered the fourth month of its existence has reached four hundred and fifty copies. The favor our paper has met with from the people of Maysville and the neighborhood encourages us in the desire to give to our readers a larger and better journal at no increase in the present price of subscription. To do this it is necessary that we should have a larger advertising patronage than the paper now has, and to induce its bestowal that we may carry out our design of enlarging the paper and improving it in interest, we offer the following low rates of advertising for the present year.

One inch, six months.....$ 3 00

One inch, one year.....5 00

At these rates no advertisement will be taken for a shorter period than the time specified. The advertisements will be subject to the usual changes, and will be entitled to liberal editorial favors. The success of our advertisers is our success, and this idea will govern our relations with all advertisers. We ask the business men of Maysville to aid us in the enterprise of printing a daily paper that will be a credit to our growing community.

Suit About a Yawl.

The Vanceburg Courier says: Suit was instituted last week in the U. S. District Court at Cincinnati, by the steamer City of Ironton against the Handy for breaking the yawl of the Ironton, on the morning of last Monday week. The Handy in backing out from the lower grade caught the yawl which the crew claims was hanging low at the stern of the Ironton, in the wheel and before the engineer could stop her, mashed the end of it. The Ironton presented a bill of twenty dollars for damages which the Handy refused to pay, claiming it was not her fault but the carelessness of the Ironton people in not hoisting the yawl higher. Captain Redden however agreed to leave the matter to three disinterested persons but the Ironton would not accept the proposition. He then agreed to refer it to Captain Frost, the principal owner of the Ironton, and abide by his decision. This was likewise refused and the case was taken to the court and is set for hearing next Tuesday. From Capt. Redden's statements, which nobody has any right or inclination to dispute, it would seem that he has done all in his power to settle this matter peacefully, honorably, and without hard feelings or unnecessary cost and we think the Ironton, should be willing to meet him half way and dispose of the matter without further trouble.

How to Raise Tobacco Plants.

The Elmira (N. Y.) Free Press gives the following directions how to raise tobacco plants:

To raise early tobacco plants, or those which will be large enough to set by the 10th of June the use of glass for covering the cold frames, or beds, is almost indispensable. The sash need not cost much, and they can be made by any person familiar with the use of a saw and hammer. The length of the sash must, of course, be in accordance with the width of the bed—from four to six feet being the width usually used.

Canvas is sometimes used for covering the beds, and forms a partial substitute for glass, but this material does good only as it keeps out the cold wind, whereas glass attracts the sun's heat and confines it, thus forcing the young plants. One ounce of good seed is sufficient for sowing a bed 48 feet long and 6 feet wide, and will, with good success, furnish plants enough for three acres.

In order to save time and annoyance from weeds, it is best to sprout the seed before sowing it. This is best done by mixing it with fine rotten wood, or "chip dirt," and placing it in a warm place, being careful to keep the mixture damp. In either case the seed will commence to sprout in from four to ten days, when it is ready to sow. It is not best to allow the seed to become sprouted much, or the sprouts will become broken while sowing. Should the seed become sprouted before the weather or the condition of the soil in the seed bed will allow the sowing, it may be placed in a cool place, as in a cellar, and kept for several days without injury.

As soon as the soil in the bed, which should have been made the previous fall, becomes dry enough to work, it should be forked over, and with a steel toothed rake make fine and mellow to receive the seed. It is important that the seed be sown evenly in the bed and not too thick. To avoid sowing unevenly, it is a good plan to mark off the surface of the bed in squares. After sowing the seed, if the soil is dry, it is best to "form" the soil slightly with a light hand roller or a wide board, after which the bed should be watered down, or sprinkled heavily with warm water. The glass, or other covering should then be put on. Great care must be exercised during the first week after sowing the seed not to allow the surface of the soil in the bed to become dry, otherwise the tender sprouts will be destroyed, and failure will follow. Keep the bed wet by frequent sprinklings of warm water through a sprinkling pot having pot having a fine rose. On cold nights, or when there is danger of a frost, the bed should be covered with old carpets, straw, or boards, to prevent the young plants from being chilled.

Late plants may be grown successfully without glass or other covering for the beds. Such plants are usually strong and healthy, but they will rarely be ready to transplant before the 20th of June, which is rather late for planting, although we have seen excellent crops of tobacco grown from plants set out after that time. In this case seed should not be sown before April 15th, in ordinary seasons. When glass is used the seed may usually be sown from the 5th to the 15th of April, and with a good season and good success, plants large enough for setting, should be had by June 5th or 10th.

Negro Superstitions.

Savage African beliefs, or superstitions, as to the interference of supernatural power in the affairs of human life, prevail everywhere among the negroes of the South to an extent which Northern people would scarcely imagine without special study of the subject. This is not to be wondered at when we observe how largely prehistoric forms of thought survive even in cultivated Northern communities. I think there are no negroes, perhaps, except the few educated young men, who are free from the influences of the general belief in signs, charms, dreams, spells and magical incantations. Nearly every neighborhood has an old man or woman who possesses unearthly powers, and who is constantly consulted and appealed to for assistance in connection with the love affairs and the quarrels of the colored people, and in cases of protracted or mysterious sickness. The belief in the power of the evil eye is nearly universal, as in the notion that persons, domestic animals, wells, and particular places can be "tricked"—that is, have a curse or malign spell put upon them—by anybody who knows the "charm," or method of procedure which will produce such a result. A nail driven into the ground, with certain magical preliminaries and accompaniments, is a potent means of dire injuries and revenges. In matters of love, courtship and marriage the negroes are usually extremely jealous and suspicious, and magical arts are commonly invoked to secure affection, to alienate those who are already attached to each other, and to protect aggressors from detection or punishment. There are various spells of formulae for such purposes. They usually include the use of a scrap of some article of clothing which has been worn by the person who is to be tricked, or a shred of his hair, a piece of a finger-nail or toe-nail, or even some dust from his shoes. A volume might be written on the beliefs of the colored people regarding the supernatural, and on this department of their folk-lore, and the subject would probably as well repay attention as the ideas and race characteristics of savage tribes in distant parts of the world.—Atlantic Monthly.

Caught at His Own Game.

Years ago, into a wholesale grocery store in Boston walked a tall, muscular-looking man, evidently a fresh comer from some backwoods town in Maine or New Hampshire. According to the person he met, who happened to be the merchant himself, he asked:

"You don't want to hire a man in your store, do you?"

"Well," said the merchant, "I don't know; what can you do?"

"Do?" said the man, "I rather guess I can turn my hand to almost anything—what do you want done?"

"Well, if I was to hire a man, it would be one who could lift well; a strong, wiry fellow. One, for instance, who could shoulder a sack of coffee like that yonder, and carry it across the floor and never let it down."

"There, now, Captain," said the contractor, "that's just me. I can lift anything I hitch to; you can't suit me better. What will you give a man that will suit you?"

"I'll tell you," said the merchant, "if you'll shoulder that sack of coffee and carry it across the store twice, and never lay it down, I will hire you for a year at $100 a month."

"Done," said the stranger, and by this time every clerk in the store had gathered around and waited to join in the laugh against the man, who, walking up to the sack, threw it across his shoulder with perfect ease, though extremely heavy, and walking with it twice across the floor, went quietly to a large hook which was fastened to the wall, and hanging it up, turned to the merchant and said:

"There, now; it may hang there till doomsday; I shall never take it down. What shall I go about now, mister? Give me plenty to do and one hundred dollars a month and it's all right."

They broke into a laugh, and the merchant, discomfited, yet satisfied, kept his agreement, and to-day the green countryman is the senior partner in the firm, and is worth a million dollars.
